The Ultimate Guide for Finding
Association Software

Know what features you need

Don't get caught up with shiny features. Make a list of 'must-haves'. Then, stack rank it from most to least important.

2

Set a realistic budget

Talk to other associations to gauge your budget. Remember, the amount of data you have and your feature needs will impact costs the most.

Prioritize integrations

A system that integrates with other tools will set you up for success in the future. It will make expanding your digital ecosystem easy.

4

Think outside the box for reporting

Systems that integrate with reporting solutions often give you more flexibility.

Evaluate the user experience

User experience is critical to ROI. Look for a system that's easy for staff and members to use.
